What is Personal Data?

Under the EU's General Data Protection Regulation:

Personal Data is defined as “any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person ('data subject'); an identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person”.

What information do we collect about you?

Acanthus Cast Stone Ltd collects data about individuals, usually within a business context. We only collect basic personal data about you such as name, address, email, phone number. It does not include any special types/categories when relating to customers. Where special category data is collected (employees), it is collected to assist in providing employment services and Acanthus will ensure that you are aware what we collect, why we collect it and that this information is protected according to its sensitivity. Information is collected about you when you request us to contact you or place an order with us for our products or services or seek employment within Acanthus Cast Stone Ltd. Acanthus Cast Stone Ltd treats all data which identifies an individual as Personal Data. Acanthus Cast Stone acts as the 'Controller' of the personal data you provide to us, this means we control what happens to the data in our possession. We need to know your basic personal data to provide you with information associated with your queries, consultancy or certification and managed services. We will not collect any personal data from you we do not need to provide and oversee this service to you. Basic website usage information is collected using cookies.

What do we use the information collected about you for?

We may process your personal data for our legitimate business interests. “Legitimate Interests” means the interests of our company in conducting and managing our business and providing you with the best services and products in the most secure way. These interests include:

- To provide you with information about Our products, services, offers or technical developments that you request from Us or which we feel may interest you, where you have consented to be contacted for such purposes;
- To contact you regarding your opinions on Our products and services which may be used for marketing, research and analysis, where you have consented to be contacted for such purposes;
- To help Us identify you when you contact or visit Us
- To help Us improve the quality of Our products and services
- To help Us detect and prevent fraud and money laundering.
- To help Us recover debts
- When you communicate with us for customer service or other purposes (e.g., by emails, faxes, phone calls, tweets, etc.), we retain such information and our responses to you in the records of your account;

When we process your personal data for our legitimate business interests we always ensure that we consider and balance any potential impact on you and your rights under data protection laws.

Where we enter in to a contract, We will process your personal data 'In pursuance of a contract' in line with a legitimate 'Lawful Basis for Processing' personal data.

If you have any concerns about the processing described above, you have the right to object to this processing. For more information on your rights please see “Your Right” section below.
